"Dear Authors,

Paper ID: 8711

Title: AI-Based Approaches for Detecting Deepfake Audio Content

Congratulations! Your paper has been accepted. To ensure it is included in the presentation schedule, please make the necessary changes based on the below comments and update the same in the EasyChair login at the same Paper ID.

The present Similarity/Plagiarism Index Including References in iThenticate of your paper: 21%

Reviewer Comments:

1. The paper addresses a highly relevant and emerging security threat—deepfake audio—highlighting its societal risks and the need for robust detection mechanisms.
2. The authors evaluate 47 AI-based models across multiple datasets (e.g., ASVspoof, ADD, MLAAD), covering diverse synthesis techniques and acoustic scenarios, ensuring breadth and realism.
3. The hybrid architecture using CNN-LSTM, waveform transformers, and adversarial training with GAN-based robustness testing showcases a technically sound and forward-thinking methodology.
4. Include analysis or case examples on how the proposed system performs under real-world conditions such as telephony compression, language diversity, or streaming platforms.
5. Incorporate interpretable AI tools (e.g., Grad-CAM, SHAP) to help users understand how the model distinguishes real vs. fake audio—especially for forensic or legal use.
6. Since deepfakes often involve both audio and video, the paper could benefit from exploring or simulating audio-visual detection systems for enhanced reliability.
